Learn and Grow: Be a Student Ambassador

By: Quang "Neon" Le

I applied to be an International Student Ambassador for the Fall 2016 semester to seek mentorship from Supinda, as well as to find out if an office job fits my personality and work style. During my time as an Ambassador, I was able to do both and also get a lot of other benefits. Since I won't be continuing as an Ambassador next semester, I'd like to share with you the benefits of being an Ambassador and encourage you to apply for the position.

Professionally, the biggest benefit is the learning experience that I get from being assigned tasks that I'm unfamiliar with that are out of my comfort zone. From being assigned to meet with many different faculty and staff to organize meetings, I was able to learn how to properly manage time. From presenting to a big crowd, I was able to realize my weak points in my public speaking ability. But the biggest of all, by having this position, I have learned and understood much more about the work flow in an office as well as how to work better as a team.

Personally, I have also made a new friends and connections as well. Having the opportunities to talk and meet new people, I was inspired and was able to learn a lot. One thing that I really like is that I've learned to be kind and sincere to others in a way that is different from my usual way. These people that I've met and worked with have changed me in a way that can't be described by words, I feel like I've grown much more as a person through this job.

If you are interested in becoming an International Student Ambassador, you can submit an application by Wednesday, November 30. If you want to know more information, you can find a job description, application, and recommendation forms at this link <http://canadacollege.edu/international/meetthestaff.php>.

After submitting your application, an email should be sent to you to schedule an interview. You should prepare for the interview by reviewing your knowledge about the campus including all the services that are available.

I wish you the best of luck and hope you're having a wonderful semester.

Stress Relief: Take a Breather

By: Quang "Neon" Le

Before we are able to bathe ourselves in relaxation during winter break, we must first go through the hardest of tests and assignments these next few weeks. We'll be engulfed under hours of study and work. It is this time of year that stress can be a really big problem. Through this article, I hope to share with you ways that not only will help you combat stress of this semester but also for the future.

The biggest advice that I would like to give is that no matter what, you should always have to have "me" time. Adult life is tough, working hard and studying everyday takes most of your time leaving you with no time for yourself, but do try to allocate time to relax. Use that time to relax and maybe engage in your hobbies that you enjoy. You could play some games and watch some series on Netflix or if you prefer, be by yourself.

You could also go out with friends and enjoy the wonderful things that are offered here in the Bay Area like Union Square at San Francisco, the San Mateo Japanese Garden or the awesome Vietnamese cuisines in San Jose and so much more.

Volunteering is also a great way to relax and you could always visit the ASCC programming board at <http://canadacollege.edu/studentlife/programmingboard.php> to find out about what volunteering opportunities are available. Work hard but don't forget to enjoy your youth my friend! Good luck!

Thanks

To all the students who attended the

How is your experience at Cañada College; are you involved in any campus activities/clubs and/or events?

My experience at Cañada College has been wonderful. I went to the MAP picnic and several museum tours on the weekends. It is very nice to have off campus activities

What is most surprising/different about living in the U.S.?

The biggest difference I found would be the weather in U.S. It is usually sunny but it could get cloudy and really windy.

Also the mornings and evenings are kind of chilly and it is kind of dry everyday.

What is the best thing about your experience in the U.S.?

The best thing about being in the U.S. would be meeting people from all over the world. It is very hard to go to a single place and have the opportunity of talking to people with different origins. I feel very blessed.

What tips would you give other international students?

Talk to people and make connections. Living in a completely different environment might be hard and frightening at first, but there are so many things that are waiting for you in the future. Participate in activities and make new friends, you'll find life here is as great as home!

Thoughts on the U.S. Elections Outcome

By: Supinda Sirihekaphong

It is important to pause and reflect during times of uncertainty. After losing my beloved King of Thailand, the shocking outcome of the U.S. Presidential Election, attending a 2-day training that would make it easier for international students to apply to Cañada College, launching a summer study abroad program, and planning for International Education Week, I was able to reflect on Veteran's Day, 3 days after the elections. In gratitude to my sister, Captain Sunisa Medina and all active military and veterans, I took a peaceful walk along the San Andreas fault line and realized how quickly one's life can change and how unsettled I felt of the uncertainty.

So I chose to focus on what I do know. I do know that my position allows me to bring people from different races, classes, religion, and sexual orientation together to explore their similarities and differences and hopefully share common goals and values. As an international education professional and daughter of immigrant parents, I declare my global citizenship and renew my commitment to all students and their pursuit of higher education as a means to improve their lives and those of others. I hope you'll join me?

The results of last Tuesday's Presidential Election were surprising and shocking to millions of Americans. According to a poll by ABC News, close to half of Americans have negative feelings about the future of the country. Many of us, including me, woke up the next morning with increased fear, depression, and a sense of despair due to the extreme statements made during the campaign by future President Trump.

So what does this mean for us now? There are many unknowns. No one knows how many of the policy statements Trump made during the campaign will become reality. That being said, the damage has already been done to the U.S.'s reputation as a destination welcoming international students. Many predict that we may see a drop in international student enrollment in the U.S. as a result.

However, one professional stated, "it is important to keep in mind that many of the extreme promises Trump made would require significant changes to existing law that, even with a sympathetic Congress, are highly unlikely to happen."

What can we do personally? The best advice I've heard comes from HBO news commentator, John Oliver, stating "For the past 8 years, we've had a President [Obama] who we could assume would stand up for the rights of all Americans [and visitors]. Going forward, we don't know if the next President will do this. So we must stand up for each other. "Take action to prevent racism and promote inclusion in your communities. Represent your home country in a positive way. Volunteer your time, donate to peace organizations, or just be kind and open-minded with everyone you meet.

UC Admissions: Personal Insight Questions

By: Hongcen "Catherine" Tu

Did you know that the University of California has new Personal Insight Questions as a part of their admissions application? The questions give you the opportunity to show who you are besides your academic records. Take it seriously. Try to finish it as soon as possible, and don't wait until the last day! There is one required question and you must also answer 3 of 7 additional questions. Here are some tips on answering the questions.

Required Question: Please describe how you have prepared for your intended major, including your readiness to succeed in your upper-division courses once you enroll at the university.

Think about experiences that developed your interest in your major, but don't write too much about how your interest developed. Also, explain what skills you have developed related to your major that will help you succeed after you transfer. Don't forget to demonstrate that you have in-depth knowledge of your major.

Question 1: Leadership

You can talk about your leadership roles in a variety of settings; such as a mentor or a tutor. Describe how you helped resolve an important dispute at school or in your community. The most important thing is that you need to show how this experiences changed or affected you.

Question 2: Creativity

Firstly, creative thinking means to devise new ways to carry out tasks, solve problems, or meet challenges. You can write about a situation where you used creativity to find a solution, and what you have learned from it. Secondly, you may describe your passions and your habits, and how those skills help you. Thirdly, relate your creativity to you major and career.

Question 3: Greatest Talent or Skill

This one is similar to question 2, and you can definitely talk about a talent or skill that makes you proud and consider how they helped you outside the classroom.

Question 4: Educational Opportunities or Barriers

An educational opportunity must be academic focused, and you need to explain how this opportunity led to your success in college. The barrier could be many things:

being the first in your family to attend college, having a learning disability or limited financial means.

Question 5: Significant Challenge

This is a good place to explain your academic records and your situation. Take use of it!

Question 6: Volunteer Service

You might want to focus on recent events, and don't be afraid to write "small" things as long as it had a positive impact. You could explain what inspired you to get involved and what you have learned.

Question 7: What is the one thing that you think sets you apart from other candidates applying to the University of California? You may share information that can help the university know you more. Given who you are, what makes you believe that you belong to one of the UC's campuses.

For more information about the new Personal Insight Questions, check out: <http://admission.universityofcalifornia.edu/how-to-apply/personal-questions/transfer/index.html>

Good luck on all your application process! I hope all of you get to go to your dream university!

Got Goals? How a Counsellor Can Help You

By: Noor Razali

According to a special report from the National Association for College Admission Counseling, a third of students end up transferring to other colleges or universities. But how do students transfer, what steps do they need to take to transfer. Here are a few questions you can ask a counsellor to help you achieve your goals of transferring.

What classes do I need to take to transfer?

There are thousands of college and universities in the U.S. and each one have their own admissions requirements for transfer students. Luckily, counsellors receive up-to-date information about admissions policies, including new Associate Degrees for Transfers for California State University system and changes to admissions policies to University of Southern California. Many private universities also communication with counsellors on changes to their application process as well. Counsellors also have useful tools like GPA calculators and goal planning applications that help students stay on track to reaching their goals.

"How do I find a college or university that is best for me?" Counsellors are trained to guide students on how to choose a school that best fits our personality and academic preference.

Transferring to a university is a long process, especially when filling out the application. Nearly every school requires a personal statement or essay. A strong essay could be help a student gain admission to their dream school. On the other hand, a poorly written essay with a bad choice of topic can tip a student's application into the rejection pile. But what makes a good personal statement? Now that's a good question to ask a counsellor.

Sometimes we might feel that we already have everything together, but later on we realize we still need help. Being independent is a good thing, but asking for help doesn't make you less smart. It shows that you're a proactive and resourceful student.

How is your experience at Cañada College; are you involved in any campus activities/clubs and/or events?

I feel comfortable here. Classmates are friendly, and professors are approachable. Besides, I joined MAP club, a club for multicultural studying and communication. Also, I'm running for the ASCC senator.

What is most surprising/different about living in the U.S.?

It's surprising that I could see a lot of Chinese people here; they make me feel like home. I have more spare time here compared to the time I was in China.

What is the best thing about your experience in the U.S.?

Getting to know people from different countries is great, and I could also improve my English at the same time. I'm excited that I get chances to try new things.

What tips would you give other international students?

Get involved in various activities, instead of being bookish. Don't be afraid of the amount of homework, and believe that no pain, no gain.

How to Get an Internship and the Benefits

My name is Neon and I'm from Vietnam. I came to the U.S. to get a degree and learn more about myself and be independent. I believed that one way to reach these goals was to get an internship in my field of study, Electrical Engineering.

At Cañada College I made connections with my professors and classmates and they inspired me and helped me to find two internships. One internship is teaching at a Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) organization. I'm also interning at Menlo Security as a Quality Assurance (QA) Engineer. I'm learning a lot about myself through these internships. I've always loved computer hardware, but I always wondered whether I could actually sit still in one spot for that long. Through this internship, I have learned that I absolutely love coding and I can see myself continuing what I am doing now in the future but at a much more advanced environment.

In addition, through this internship, I'm learning that tech companies are trying to be a more fun and diverse atmosphere rather than a serious one, so I don't have to worry about sitting in one place for long periods of time.

I'm grateful for these internships because I've found out what I enjoy and what my future career may be. I recommend all students to do an internship. I couldn't have reached this stage of my life without the friendly and inspiring professors and classmates at Cañada College.

So if you're ready to do an internship, here's what you need to know. If you're not sure where to find an internship, stop by the Career Center for information on how to create a resume and websites that post internships: www.canadacollege.edu/careercenter/. If you're a STEM major, additional internship opportunities can be found here: www.canadacollege.edu/stemcenter/internships.php.

Finally, if you do find an internship off campus that is paid, you will need to request Curricular Practical Training (CPT) employment authorization from the International Student Center. The eligibility requirements for CPT authorization are:

- Have been an F-1 student for one year.
- Work must be related to your major.
- Registered in cooperative/practicum units.

Recruiting International Students from Abroad

By: Supinda Sirihekaphong

In early October, I had the opportunity to travel to Pakistan with EducationUSA Pakistan (www.usefpakistan.org/) on their South Asia Tour to recruit international students on behalf of the San Mateo Community College District. I visited five high schools and participated in three college fairs.

I participated in the tour with other colleges and universities across the U.S., including Colorado State University, Ohio Wesleyan University, Savannah College of Art & Design, as well as other community colleges, such as Foothill & DeAnza Colleges and College of the Desert. All of the colleges and universities shared the same goals of increasing and diversifying their international student population and introducing Pakistani students to the range of educational opportunities in the U.S.

I also learned a lot from the high school visits, including the Pakistani education system. I met with many high school counselors that were excited to learn about community colleges transfer pathways to four-year universities and actually had an opportunity to talk about communication colleges on Pakistan's TV show, World this Morning. You can check out the show on <http://bit.ly/2d5z1kr>. It was my first time on TV and I hope I represented community colleges well.

What I learned most from recruiting international students from abroad is that no matter where students are from, they have the same challenges and concerns. Students stress out over getting good grades, struggle with time management, and are concerned with prioritizing goals of getting into a good school to make their parents happy or pursue their dreams and passions.

This visit renewed my commitment to helping students achieve their goals and creating safe spaces for students to explore their potential. It's not an easy task, but it is a worthwhile one.

Meet with a UCLA Admissions Rep and other 4-year Universities!

Not sure where to transfer to or where to start your university search?

Next week on Tuesday, Oct. 18th from 10:30am to 1:00pm, in The Grove, Cañada College is hosting Transfer Day. This is a time for students to meet with UC, CSU and private university representatives to ask questions about majors, admission, housing, financial aid, and other information.

Our UCLA admission representative will be meeting one-on-one with students in the afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00pm. This is a unique opportunity for students to receive expert admission advising directly from UCLA! To schedule your individual appointment, send an email by noon Oct. 17th to gibsonk@smccd.edu or haroy@smccd.edu, include your preferred time to meet in the email.

Your exploration starts here!

October 29 • 10am–Noon

ATTEND OUR OPEN HOUSE

- Tour the campus
- Meet and mix with NDNU students
- Hear about majors and programs offered
- Learn about admissions and financial aid
- FAFSA completion workshop

While you explore your options for college, see how Notre Dame de Namur University (NDNU), a smaller, private university, may be just what you are looking for. Get the personal attention you deserve and the classes that you need to graduate on time. NDNU is the third oldest college in California and offers over 30 undergraduate, graduate, and teacher credential programs.

MAP Club Picnic

STEM Speaker Series Begins

Each semester, the STEM Center organizes the "STEM Speaker Series". The STEM Speaker Series will have professionals from various STEM fields talking about their careers/research and educational paths, as well as providing advice for current Cañada College students.

This is an absolutely wonderful opportunity for everyone to open their mind and learn about the tips and tricks on how to succeed in the major they are pursuing while enjoying FREE FOOD! Not only that, you will get a chance to connect with these professional people and grow your network. Last semester, we had a speaker from Game Engine Unity that connected with the Video Game Design Club and took them to the Unity headquarters which was really cool.

The STEM Speaker Series happens every Wednesday from 5:00 PM to 6:00 PM starting from September 21st through November 16th. It is located in building 6-102. Don't miss out on this opportunity!

Volunteer with Cañada in Your Community

The College has launched, "Cañada in Your Community," a program geared to serve members of our community, outside of the classroom. This community relations program is also a wonderful way to bring students, faculty, staff and administrators together to engage in a variety of service related events, such as toy drives, food bank sorts, and festivals/events in Redwood City.

Our next Cañada in Your Community event was brought to us by our colleagues at TRIO, who volunteer for this annual event. We invite you to participate in the Coastal Clean-up on Saturday, September 17. This event is open to the entire college and family/friends are encouraged to join the fun! If you are interested in participating, please confirm your attendance here.

Also, if you have a recommended community event/program for Cañada to partner with, please send an email to the College Recruiter, Mayra Arellano at arellanom@smccd.edu. We look forward to seeing you on September 17!

TAG in September!

What is TAG? Transfer Admission Guarantee Agreement (TAG) is a contract between community colleges and the University of California that offers students guarantee admission as long as they meet the TAG eligibility requirements.

Why should I apply for a TAG? By applying for a TAG, you will receive early review of your academic records, early admission notification and specific guidance about major preparation and general education coursework.

Where can I TAG to? Students have the opportunity to TAG with only one of the six UC campuses: UC Davis, UC Irvine, UC Merced, UC Riverside, UC Santa Barbara, and UC Santa Cruz.

What are the requirements?

1. Complete 30 transferable units at the time of application.
2. Meet the course requirements for your major.
3. Meet the minimum required GPA.
4. Complete 60 transferrable units by the end of Spring for fall admission.

For more detailed information, here's a list of minimum GPA requirements and to see other specific requirements, such as list of eligible majors and semesters, check out the TAG Matrix at <http://admission.universityofcalifornia.edu/counselors/files/tagmatrix.pdf>.

How do I pursue TAG?

1. Meet with a counselor to discuss your major and eligibility, including course transferability, and transfer GPA.
2. Create an account in Transfer Admission Planner for UC.
3. Enter in your personal information and academic records.
4. Lastly, meet with the Transfer Center counselor to finalize your contract before submitting it in September (1-30). Feel free to schedule an appointment with your counselor if you have any other questions.

Important! The UC TAG application deadline is September 30. And you may file a TAG application with only one UC campus.

For more information on transferring and UC TAG requirements, check out the Transfer Center's website or this flyer!

Get Involved with the ASCC Programming Board!

"People who volunteer tend to have higher self-esteem, psychological well-being, and happiness." -Snyder

Do you find yourself saying, "I want to be more involved and volunteer but..."

- I have a busy schedule, I don't have time to volunteer?"
- I can't commit to a weekly volunteering schedule?"
- It's difficult to commute between places?"

Well then, Programming Board is perfect for you! Don't miss out on this wonderful opportunity to contribute and be part of the Cañada College family!

What is ASCC's Programming Board?

The Associated Students of Cañada College (ASCC)'s Programming Board is a team of inspired students with the passion of organizing and promoting campus wide events!

Who can be a member? You can! It is open to the entire Cañada College community.

What will I have to do? You'll get to do many different and amazing fun activities and tasks! Besides 1) attend creative brainstorming meetings, and 2) help plan campus wide events, you can also 3) help out during the event day! The best part about volunteering for events is that we will work with your schedule! Since we're on campus, you can get volunteering experience between your classes!

Why should I join?

- Make new friends and contacts on campus;
- Great resume builder opportunity;
- Gain leadership skills;
- Receive volunteer hours;
- Volunteering is good for your body and mind;
- An opportunity to learn, grow, and have fun at the same time;
- Also, you can even count it as Cooperative Education and receive up to 3 units!

When and where are the meetings? Every Tuesday 4-5PM in the Student Life & Leadership Development Clubhouse in Bldg 5!

How to attend? Relax and have fun! Just bring yourself and ideas!

Programming Board provides a variety of social, educational, and cultural events open to the entire campus community and you can be a part of it!

Cool! Where do I sign up? Click here: Sign Up for Programming Board Now!

For more information, please feel free to email Nisa (ASCC Commissioner of Publicity) at niknisa@live.com or visit our website at: <http://canadacollege.edu/studentlife/programmingboard.php>

Welcome our new International Counselor Gil Perez!

The International Student Center is happy to welcome Gil Perez, our new part-time counselor for international students. Gil's previous experience working with international students at the City College of San Francisco will be invaluable to both international students and ISC in improving our services to international students.

Gil is available for 30 minute appointments on Monday and Tuesday starting mid-September. Here's a few words from Gil and please give him a warm welcome!

"Hello students! I hope you are all having a wonderful start to the fall 2016 semester! My name is Gil Perez and I am excited to join the International Student Center team in my role as a college counselor.

I was born and raised in Daly City, CA. I currently reside in the East Bay with my two small dogs (a pekingese and maltese/shih tzu). I enjoy long-distance running and discovering new places, things to do and restaurants.

I attended City College of San Francisco and earned an associate degree for transfer in psychology. I then transferred to San Francisco State University and earned a bachelor degree in psychology and a minor in health education. SF State is also where I received my master degree in college counseling.

I have worked with international students in various counseling capacities (academic, transfer, career, and personal). I aim to help you plan your studies efficiently and effectively through the counselor-student partnership we build together. I am thrilled to continue serving international students and supporting each and everyone of you through your unique journey towards achieving your educational goals here at Cañada College. I look forward to meeting you all very soon!"

FALL 2016, AUGUST 17

Welcome New International Students

Cañada College welcomes over 40 new international students this Fall 2016 semester, bringing the international student population to over 140. The students are from 18 countries including Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Burma, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, India, Egypt, El Salvador, France, Republic of Congo, Serbia, South Korea, Mexico, Nepal, Philippines and Ukraine.

The campus community welcomed them at a Welcome Luncheon on Monday, August 1 along with new students in our new Silicon Valley Intensive English Program. President Jamillah Moore congratulated the students on their journey as an international student in the U.S. and International Student Ambassadors Noor Razali, Neon Le, and Cassandra Fekir shared their experience and tips on transitioning to the U.S. ASCC President Cindy Streitenberger and international student Raghad Abd-aljawad encouraged the students to get involved and share their culture with the campus community.

The new international students also had an opportunity to tour downtown Redwood City and received a warm welcome from Redwood City Mayor John Seybert, other council members, and members of Redwood City International. Their orientation ended with a day touring San Francisco with other new international students from Skyline College and College of San Mateo.

We're excited to grow our international student population and provide more opportunities for our community to understand and appreciate different points of view within our diverse community.

Welcome Kathy Kohut

The International Student Center is happy to announce our new full-time Program Services Coordinator, Kathy Kohut. She comes to Cañada with extensive experience as an educational and accreditation consultant and director for English language training centers. Kathy has already jumped right in and welcomed our new international students during orientation and has helped them register in their first classes at Cañada! Here are a few words from our new team member!

Hello Students! I hope you had a great summer. I'm happy to be your new International Program Services Coordinator. I look forward to meeting each of you and helping you this semester.

I've worked in international education for over 15 years and have worked with students from more than 30 countries. I've also been an international student myself when I studied in St. Petersburg, Russia. I understand how rewarding and challenging it can be to study in a different country. Besides Russia, I've lived and worked in Chiba City, Japan as an English language teacher. I've studied Spanish, Russian and Japanese languages – but need to practice speaking them more!

I love travelling, learning foreign languages, playing piano, and enjoying the beaches of Pacifica with my 2 year old daughter and terrier dog. I'm also a foodie and enjoy trying new restaurants.

My advice to you is to take advantage of the opportunities and resources you will find at Cañada, and get involved! The memories you make and experience you gain through involvement on campus and in the community is what you will remember years from now.

Important Reminders

1. Don't forget to submit the Online Check In Form at <http://canadacollege.edu/international/forms.php>. The deadline to submit the check in form is the ADD/DROP deadline on Tuesday, August 30.
2. International students must be registered full-time (at least 12 units). Only 3 units of online classes count towards full-time registration and any dropped classes do not count towards registration.

ISC Expands to Welcome

SILICON VALLEY

INTENSIVE ENGLISH PROGRAM

The International Student Center is will also be home to SMCCD's Community, Continuing, and Corporate Education's new Silicon Valley Intensive English Program (SVIEP). This exciting new program of study is offered at Cañada College and Skyline College for students seeking high-quality, intensive English instruction. Upon successful completion of SVIEP level 4, students will be guaranteed admission to one of our three colleges (Cañada College, College of San Mateo, and Skyline College). For more information, call SVIEP at (650) 381-3514 or visit www.smccd.edu/sviep.

Yuri Goda serves as the Program Services Coordinator for SVIEP where she works closely with the ESL faculty as well as communicates with international and local students. Prior to this, Yuri founded an English language school in Japan. She was responsible for curriculum development as well as teaching, and also helping students with applications and visa support. Yuri returned to the U.S. as an international student after living and working in Tokyo, Japan for over a decade. She holds a BA in Economics from UC Santa Cruz, and a MA in Education, Second Language Acquisition from Saint Mary's College of California.

Kassandra "Kassi" Fekir is the International Student Ambassador for SVIEP. She is no stranger to Cañada College, since she has served as a Peer Mentor in the BTO Peer Mentorship Program, a tutor in the Learning Center and Club Officer of Intervarsity Fellowship. Kassi is excited to help international students in SVIEP transition to a U.S. classroom and social environment.

3. Waitlisted for a class? Check your My.SMCCD.edu email everyday. If you receive an email notifying you that a space has opened up, you have 24 hours to register for the class. If classes have started and you are still on the waitlist, attend the first day of class and obtain an ACCESS CODE from the professor.
4. Download your health insurance card from www.4studenthealth.com or stop by the ISC.
5. Want to sell or buy used textbooks to fellow international students? Stop by the International Student Center to check out our textbooks for sale.
