Attendees reviewed Academic Support and First Year Experience ideal vision document.
Attendees reviewed and discussion Success Teams document.

- Design of academic support and FYE should consider capacity, visibility, access
- Measures should include usage, participation
- Small learning communities for first year and continuing students, grouping continuing students with new students can lead to success
- Ex: ESL “cohort” developed in Learning Center.
- Suggested process from the first point of entry through CCC apply.
 - Step 1 – students are automatically opted in
 - Step 2 students can then have a choice to opt out
- Cohorted classes by interest areas, faculty can make a requirement to spend time in the Learning Center and Academic Support
- Students are introduced to different supports
- Once zoom becomes available can include counseling and tutoring options
- English and Math professors should have office hours in the Learning Center
- FYE – keep in mind that part-time students
- Launching of FYE should cast the net widely, recognizing that when we first start we might miss students due to PT and FT status
- Suggestion –potentially renaming First Year Experience to Pathway Experience
- Pathway Experience > only if you are in the Path, the classes will be held for students in these Paths for first priority registration
- Start Pathway Experience as a pilot.
- Check with CRM about the possibilities with a Pathway in CRM.
