Kanopy is a streaming film database that includes all kinds of documentaries, independent movies, and classic films available to stream. It has over 300 Criterion Collection films, as well as movies in a variety of languages. It's pretty much our version of Netflix!

Kanopy isn't just for watching. It also allows you to create your own clips and playlists from the films to embed into a Canvas course or email to your class. Just remember that if you're using it off campus you will need your library card number and pin.

You can find Kanopy here or on the Library homepage.
Need a library orientation? We provide anything from quick 30 minute overviews to 1.5 hour sessions on how to evaluate resources, use the library's databases, find books and eBooks, correctly create citations in different formats, and more! Click on the button above or go here and fill out a Library Orientation Request.

Requests must be submitted at least one week before date of orientation.

Librarian Chris Burns created an amazing online guide to murals and street art. It includes articles, films, books, museums, and maps of murals in the SF Bay Area, as well as some excellent examples of murals around the world and a growing list of artists. If you’ve ever thought about becoming a street artist or muralists, or if you just like the art, this is the guide for you!

STATISTA: SELFIES DEADLIER THAN SHARKS

That's right, selfies are way more dangerous than sharks! Find this and other statistics on society, business, politics, and more using Statista.
CONSTRUCTION!!!

You may have noticed that the library is looking a little wrapped up. Workers will be doing repairs all throughout building 9 this semester. You may hear more noise and some areas, like the group study rooms, will be temporary unavailable. We have ear plugs available to use and students can use the Social Science HUB (located behind the library’s front desk) as a study space when it is free.
